

1. HORNPIPE - C. Day Lewis

Lively, d = c 72. mp Now the peak of summer's past, the sky is overcast And the love we swore would last for an age

Seems de- ceit :

un poco rall...

tranquillo (d = c 66) Pa - ler is the quel - der since the day we first be - held her In

tranquillo

blush beside the el - der drifting sweet, drift

f RALL--

2. SARABAND: The sunlight on the garden - Louis MacNeice.

3 (6)
4 (8)

Smooth and gentle, $\text{♩} = 63$.

p

con Ped.

The sunlight on the gar-den Har-dens and grows cold, We cannot cage the minute Within its nets of gold, When all is told We cannot beg for par — don.

Our freedom as free lances Advances towards its end;

3. JIG.

Words: C. Day Lewis

With bounce, $\text{♩} = c 120$

That winter love spoke and we raised no objection, at

Easter 'twas daisies all light and affectionate, June sent us crazy for natural selection - not Four traction-engines could tear us a-part. Autumn then coloured the map of our land, Oaks shuddered and apples came ripe to the hand, In the